earn a passing grade. Errors fall into three categories: Critical errors: Immediate safety hazards such as failing to stop at a red light or colliding with another vehicle (typically 2–3 points each). Major errors: Mistakes that compromise safe driving but do not create immediate danger, like an improper lane change (1–2 points). Minor errors: Small oversights such as forgetting to signal or rolling through a stop sign (0.5–1 point). The examiner also notes any “fault” observations that can offset minor deductions, but only if the overall score remains under the cutoff.
