For kids new to the craft, a handful of patterns produce recognizable results in under ten minutes. The following examples illustrate how a single loom can generate multiple styles, each adding a different visual twist while remaining easy to master. Classic Bracelet Loop “ Wrap a single color around each peg, pull the band over the loom, and slide it off to form a seamless circle. This loop is the foundation for friendship bracelets. Chevron Stripe “ Alternate two contrasting colors every two pegs, then pull the bands over the top row. The resulting “V” shape imitates a chevron pattern and introduces basic color sequencing. Wave Ripple “ Use three shades of the same hue, spacing them alternately to produce a gentle undulating line. This pattern teaches kids to anticipate how band placement affects the final curve.
